So for you grown folks, who want to meet, we've scheduled 3 extra events just for you. We've got a Grandparents Tea, so you can bring your photos and brag. We also have Senior Bingo, and a Senior Mixer.

Thurgood Marshall Auction

Since its inception in 1987, the Thurgood Marshall College Fund has provided more than 6,000 students with scholarships. Festival At Sea is supporting this continued effort with the Live and Silent Auctions as well as the Bachelor's Auction aboard the 2007 Festival At Sea cruise. We appreciate your continued support of our youth's education at one of the 47 member Public Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs). Please support the 2007 TCMF auctions aboard FAS by donating an auction item (i.e., African art, statuettes, one-of-a-kind collectible items, computers, IPODs, etc.). BOOK & School Supply DRIVE IN JAMAICA

Did you know that you're not really packed for the cruise until you put a Children's book in your luggage? Festival at Sea passengers have a tradition of donating books throughout the Caribbean, Hawaii and Africa. In 2007 our Book Drive Committee has selected the Doris Easley Basic School in Spaldings, Jamaica to be the recipient of our books. The children are preschool age, but books for any age child would be appreciated. Although many positive changes have occurred in Spaldings over the years, dedicated public educators are still faced with the struggle of acquiring and maintaining the school supplies and equipment necessary to provide education for local students. We would like you to bring a children's book with you, however, if you are also able to bring a package of pencils, pens, crayons, etc. please do so. Please, when you're shopping for your "Scrubs" Attire or White Night, or that it'sy bitsy teeny weenie bikini, don't forget that book! We will enclose book labels for you to fill out and insert in the book so the children will know who gave it to the school. Let's continue to send our children a great message about the importance of reading!

FAS VARIETY

JOE

If ever there were an official hymnal of love songs, rest assured several of the standards would have derived from JOE's well-referenced music catalog. His skilled yet innate ability to blend smooth, sultry vocals with disciplined musicianship and songwriting has edified hearts the world round with an amazing grace that is both entertaining and divine.

As a bonafide preacher's kid, Joe discovered his gift in the gospel choir where he learned to sing with the motivation to touch the soul. With compositions like "I'm In Love", "All The Things (Your Man Won't Do)" and "I Wanna Know" Joe won the respect of legions of men with his unabashed chivalry and captured the hearts and devotion of countless women by singing the words they have always longed to hear.

The soulful sound of Joe's tenor reinvigorated R&B ("Stutter," "What If A Woman") dignified Pop (Mariah Carey's "Thank God I Found You" featuring (cont' pg 5)

Morris Day and The Time

Born in Minneapolis, Day had a flair for fashion. Inspired by photographs of his grandpa in zoot suits, a true fashionista was formed! Day went to high school with Prince Rogers Nelson and sang in Prince's first band Grand Central. The Time was originally created as Prince's alter-ego to be seen as the cool, street-wise funk band contrasting Prince's more soulful R & B sound. After looking at several lead vocalists, Prince wanted someone with mad talent so he cast his high school friend-the funky, the fabulous Morris Day. Soon after, Morris Day and the Time were cast in Purple Rain which captured the exploding Minneapolis music scene at its peak.

Morris Day burst onto the public scene with the group's self titled album, The Time, which included "Get it Up" "Cool" and "Girl." Soon after the world was introduced to the prolific Minneapolis music marvel, the group went on to record three more albums, including "What Time Is It?" featuring the hits "777-9311", "Wild and Loose", "Walk", "Gigolo's Get Lonely Too" and "Ice Cream Castle" which included the hit "Jungle Love". Marcus Dyson debuts his new Gospel CD "Pieces of My Life" On Festival at Sea 2007

A long time Festival at Sea Staffer, the Bay Area's own Marcus Dyson has become a driving force in the body of Christ, for which he is making his mark through his music and ministry. He organized and produced his very own gospel concert, backed by a 100 voice youth mass choir, a 10 member ensemble and a full 5-piece band in which he performed for an audience of hundreds of supporters, friends and family. Several youth and young adults accepted and re-dedicated their lives to Christ that evening.

He embraces over a decade of experience in songwriting, producing, composing and arranging while his music continues to uplift, inspire and encourage every listening heart, mind and soul in concerts, workshops and performances. His new CD, "Pieces of My Life" is schedule for release at the end of August. However, as a special "onboard debut" Marcus would like to invite a select few Festival at Sea Passengers to join him in his gospel concert on Saturday, August 16th. He will sing songs from his new CD. If you would like to sing "or play" on stage with Marcus, come to the choir rehearsal on Sunday, August 12th and be part of this joyous celebration of praise and song.

The Time delivers energetic vocals, witty lyrics, complimented by Day's trademark smooth as silk dance moves, all wrapped up in flash, dapper fashions. After seeing him at a private party for the 100th episode of South Park, Courtney Benson, manager of Hip Hop Superstar Nelly began working projects with them saying, Morris Day and the Time's performance is "electrifying". We're looking forward to a phenomenal concert on Festival At Sea 2007.
